To the PUBLIC, New-York, Oct. 16, 1766.
IT is now upwards of six Years that I have published a weekly News Paper, under the Title of the New-York Gazette or Weekly Post-Boy, which I have the Pleasure to think has been generally acceptable, and publicly useful: But having now Occasion to alter the Title of my Paper, I hope for the same favourable Reception of the NEW-YORK JOURNAL OF GENERAL ADVERTISER, that my Paper met with under the former Title; since it will be conducted with the same Spirit, and to the same Ends,—the Suppression of Evil, and the Promotion of public and private Happiness. The Reasons of altering my Title are these, 1st, for the Sake of Distinction, as I am inform'd Mr. PARKER intends to publish a Paper under the former Title; and 2d, because, as he formerly publish'd a Paper under that Title, I would not avail myself of any Advantages from a Name originally assumed by him. The Number, for the Sake of more easily settling with my Customers, will run regularly on from my last Week's Paper. Perhaps, when Opportunity permits, I shall procure a Cut for the Head of my Paper, till which Time, it will be published in its present Form.

JOHN HOLT.

BUT the conspirators say, we need be in no apprehensions of slavery whilst we keep the power of the purse in our own hands, which is very true; but they do not tell us that he has the power of raising money, to whom no one dares refuse it.

*Arma tenenti

For 'tis as certain that an army will raise money, as that money will raise an army; but if this course be too desperate, 'tis but shutting up the Exchequer, and disobliging a few tally-jobbers, (who have bought them for fifty per cent. discount) and there will be near three millions a year ready cut and dry'd for them; and whoever doubts whether such a method as this is practicable, let him look back to the reign of Charles the second: And I am afraid the officers of the Exchequer have not much reason to value themselves for their payments in this reign; at least the purchasers of the annuities are of that opinion, and would be apt to entertain some unseasonable suspicions, if they had not greater security from his Majesty's virtue, than the justice of such ministers. But if we could suppose (whatever is the fate of other countries) that our courtiers design nothing but the public good, yet we ought not to hazard such unusual virtue, by leading it into temptation, which is part of our daily duty to pray against. But I am afraid we don't live in an age of miracles, especially of that sort; our heroes are made of a coarser alloy, and have too much dross mix'd with their constitutions for such refin'd principles: for in the little experience I have had in the world, I have observed most men to do as much mischief as lay in their power, and therefore am for dealing with them as we do with children and mad men, that is, take away all weapons by which they may do either themselves or others an injury: As I think the sheep in Boccaline made a prudent address to Apollo, when they desired, that for the future wolves might have no teeth.

When all other arguments fail, they call to their assistance the old tyrant necessity, and tell us the power of France is so great, that let the consequence of an army be what it will, we cannot be without one; and if we must be slaves, we had better be so to a protestant Prince than a popish one, and the worst of all popish ones the F--- King. Now I am of Mr. Johnson's opinion, that the putting an epithet upon tyranny is false heraldry; for protestant and popish are both alike; and if I must be a slave, it is very indifferent to me who is my master, and therefore I shall never consent to be ruled by an army, which is the worst that the most barbarous conquest can impose upon me; which notwithstanding, we have little reason to fear whilst we keep the seas well guarded.

It is certain there is no country so situated for naval power as England. The sea is our element, our seamen have as much hardy bravery, and our ships are as numerous, and built of as good materials any in the world: Such a force well applied and managed is able to give laws to the universe; and if we keep a competent part of it well arm'd in times of peace, it is the most ridiculous thing in nature to believe any Prince will have thoughts of invading us, unless he proposes to be superior to us in naval power: For the preparations necessary for such an undertaking will alarm all Europe, give both to us and our confederates time to arm, and put ourselves in a posture of defence. And whoever considers that the Prince of Orange with six hundred ships brought but fourteen thousand men, and the mighty Spanish Armado (then the terror of the word) embark'd but eighteen thousand, he will be assured that no invasion can be so sudden upon us, but we shall have time to get ready our whole fleet, bring some forces from Scotland and Ireland, and prepare our own militia if there shall be occasion for it; especially in times of peace, when we shall have the liberty of all the ports of France, and shall or may have intelligence from every one of them.

But they tell us such a Wind may happen as may be favourable to our enemy, and keep us within our own ports; which I say, as France lies to England, is almost impossible: for if we lie about Falmouth, or the land's end, no fleet from Brest or the ocean can escape it without a miracle; and if the design be to invade us from any port in the channel, a very few ships (which may safely lie at anchor) will certainly prevent it: nor is it to be conceived that that cautious Prince will be at a vast expence for the contingency of such a critical wind, or will send an army into a country where their retreat is certainly cut off; when the failing in any part of his design will bring a new war upon him, which lately cost a third part of his people, a great many large countries and strong towns, with all the honour he had heaped up by his former victories, to get rid of.

And here I must confess, that the misapplication of our naval force (which is our known strength) for these last eight years, is the strongest, as it is the most usual argument against me: which unriddles a mystery I did not understand before, tho' I never was so foolish as to believe all the errors of that kind were the effects of chance or ignorance, or that losing so many opportunities of destroying the French fleet had not some extraordinary, tho' occult cause; and yet, notwithstanding the restless attempts of our enemies, and the paltry politicks of our own wretched St——n, this fleet triumphantly defended us, so that our enemies in eight years war could not get one opportunity of invading our country.

It's objected, that the officers of our fleet may be corrupted, or that a storm may arise which may destroy it all at once, and therefore we ought to have two strings to our bow. By which I perceive all their fears lie one way, and that they do not care if they precipitate us into inevitable ruin at home, to prevent a distant possibility of it from France. But I think this phantom too, may be laid, by a well-trained militia, and then all their bugbears will vanish. This word can be no sooner out, but there's a volley of small shot let fly at me: What! must we trust our safety to an undisciplin'd mob, who never dream'd of fighting when they undertook the service; who are not inured to the fatigue of a camp, or ever saw the face of an enemy? And then they magnify mercenary troops, as if there was an intrinsick virtue in a red coat, or that a raggamuffin from robbing henroosts, in two campaigns could be cudgel'd into a hero. Tho' I must confess the conduct of the court in industriously enervating this force, does in some measure justify their objections. For the detestable policies of the last reigns were, with the utmost art and application to disarm the people, and make the militia useless, to countenance a standing army in order to bring in poverty and slavery; and if any methods were proposed to make it more serviceable, the court would never suffer them to be debated; and such officers as were more zealous in exercising their companies than others, were reprimanded, as if they design'd to raise a rebellion. And now the worthy patriots of this reign are taking advantage of the traitorous neglect and infamous policies of the last. But why may not a militia be made useful? Why may not the nobility, gentry, and freeholders of England be trusted with the defence of their own lives, estates and liberties, without having guardians and keeper assign'd them? And why may they not defend them with as much vigour and courage as mercenaries who have nothing to lose, nor any other tie to engage their fidelity, than the inconsiderable pay of six-pence a day, which they may have from the conqueror?

Why may not the laws for shooting in crossbows be changed into firelocks, and a competent number of them be kept in every parish for the young men to exercise with on holidays, and rewards offered to the most expert, to stir up their emulation?

Why may not the whole militia of England be reduced to sixty thousand, and a third part of those kept by turns in constant exercise?

• Why may not a man be listed in the militia till he be discharged by his master, as well as in the army till he be discharged by his captain? And why may not the same horse be always sent forth, unless it can be made appear he is dead or maimed?

Why may not the private soldiers of the army, when they are dispersed in the several parts of the kingdom, be sent to the militia? And why may not the inferior officers of the army in some proportion command them?

I say, these and other like things may be done, and some of them are done in our own plantations, and the islands of Jersey and Guernsey, as also in Poland, Switzerland, and the country of the Grisons; which are nations much less considerable than England, have as formidable neighbours, no sea nor fleet to defend them, nothing but a militia to depend upon, and yet no one dares attack them: And we have seen as great performances done formerly by the apprentices of London, and in the late war by the Vandals in Savoy, the Miquelets in Catalonia, and the militia in Ireland, as can be parallel'd in history: And so it would be with us, if the court would give their hearty assistance in promoting this design: if the King would appear in person at the head of them, and give rewards and honours to such as deserve them, we should quickly see the young nobility and gentry appear magnificent in arms and equipage, shew generous emulation in outvying one another in military exercises, and place a noble ambition in making themselves serviceable to their country: as antiently the Achaeans and Thebans from being the most contemptible nations in Greece, by the conduct of Pelopidas, Epaminondas and Phocion, came to have the best disciplin'd troops and most excellent soldiers in the world.

LISBON, September 16.

LAST Wednesday Don Antonio d'Almada, the new Governor of the Azores, embarked with his family and some other persons, on board Our Lady of Good Success, which sailed the next morning for Terceira. We hear also from Oporto, that five transport vessels were gone from that port with the regiment of Braganza, who are to take possession of the abovementioned islands in his Majesty's name by virtue of the cession made by the Counts de Ribeira and de Caille Mellor, and other Noblemen, who had estates there. The two Noblemen, just named, are created Marquises, and the latter of them has had an annuity granted him of 30,000 livres, which formerly belonged to the Jesuits. The rest of the Proprietors will be likewise indemnified.

Constantinople, Sept. 27. Another violent Earthquake happened here the 18th of August.

Oct. 21. The Town of Cora, on the N. Side of the Propontis, suffered so much by the last Earthquake, that of 800 Housles, scarce any are left standing, and most of the Inhabitants are destroyed.

Smyrna, Sept. 3. The Vessels here, load slowly, the importation of Silk and Cotton being interrupted by the Expedition of the Bashaw Sore Mustapha, against the two Agas, Arab Oglu, and Lara Osman Oglut, whom he has sent Orders to drive out of the Country. The Bashaw has now 1000 Men in the Environs of Magnesia, Circagus and Bero, where it is said he has gained some Advantage over Arab Oglu, and that the Latter lost 800 Men. These Hostilities prevent the Caravans from Brufa, Angota and Circagus from bringing in Cotton, and consequently the Vessels from loading.

The Revolt in the Isle of Cyprus has been entirely suppressed by the Death of Hali Aga and above 200 of his Accomplices, whose Heads have been exposed at the Seraglio.—It is said the Castle where the Rebel took Refuge, will be entirely demolished.

Alhucemas, Sept. 11. On the 30th of last Month there passed near this Town a Body of 6000 Horse and 3000 Foot, commanded by Muley Aly, eldest Son of the King of Morocco, another Son of that Prince, and by the Bashaw of Tangier, Captain-General of the Coast. The 31st, a Detachment of Horse came within Musket-shot of the Town under the Command of the King's second Son, and was fatigued by 15 Pieces of Cannon, which they answered by some Discharges of Musketry, and several demonstrations of Friendship passed between the Moorish Chiefs and our Governor. The King of Morocco's eldest Son demanded full Satisfaction for the Disobedience of the Inhabitants of Vinihuriaga, in opposing the Peace, and for the unjust Death of the Spanish Lieutenant Don Joseph Munoz; he caused 35 of the Ringleaders to be punished with death, and sent to Tangier 500 families, after having destroyed their Habitations. On the 7th and 8th instant Muajmet Huider, Major-General of the Moorish Army, came here to Compliment our Governor, who received him with all the Honours due to his Rank.

Itzehoe, in Denmark, Oct. 24. Last Tuesday in the evening, the new Queen arrived in this city, preceded by fifteen postillions, and escorted by a detachment of the regiment of green guards. Her Majesty was received by the Magistrates near the town-house; the citizens having been drawn up in the great square, with drums beating and colours flying: In the evening there were illuminations, and the next day her Majesty continued her journey towards Copenhagen.

Copenhagen, Nov. 4. Her Danish Majesty came to Roskild on Sunday Evening the 2d Inst. where the King met her the next Morning, and, after a few Hours Stay, took her Majesty along with him in his Coach, and brought her to Fredericksberg about 4 in the Afternoon. In that Palace her Majesty repose herself till Saturday the 8th Inst. which is the Day appointed for her public Entry into this City, and for the final Celebration of her Royal Nuptials.

Paris, Nov. 7. The affair of the Manilla Ransom is not yet settled. The English Ministry, it's said, will allow no more than 1,500,000 Piasters by Way of satisfaction for the plunder committed after the Town had capitulated, and refuses to refer to the Judgment of the King of Prussia, whom the Spanish Ministry proposes as Mediator.

London,

Oct. 20. A letter from Constantinople, dated Sept. 1, says, "Advices received from the Canal confirm the accounts that have been already published of the damage done there by the earthquake on the 5th of August. The town of Dardanelles in Asia was considerably damaged. Most of the manufactories of earthenware, of which there are great numbers, were destroyed, besides a considerable number of houses, and 22 mills out of 23, which were on the top of the mountain; in short, hardly any of the buildings escaped without some damage. Gallipoli suffered still more, above half of that town was reduced to a heap of ruins. At Cora a large town at the entrance of the Propontis upon the north shore, which consisted of above 800 houses, very few were left standing, and most of the inhabitants were buried in their ruins. The island of Tenedos and the city of Enos likewise were much injured, and the agitation of the earth was sensibly felt at Smyrna and Salonica, though happily no damage was done there. As no shocks have been perceived for this week past, we are in hopes that we have nothing further to apprehend."

Nov. 6. It is said, that by comparing the Date of the Account of the terrible Hurricane and Earthquake at Martinico, over great Part of the Island of Cuba, and more or less over all the American Islands, it appears that that melancholy Disaster happened on the Evening of the same Day that the Planet Mars was in the nearest Approach to the Earth, which was Aug. 13.

We hear a new coif to the coat-sleeve is to be introduced this winter by the connoisseurs in dress, from a pattern brought from Denmark, to be called the Danish coif.

Nov. 10. Among the other new dresses preparing for the ensuing season, is that of the Ladies head-dress. Several are formed, but the grand one is that of the castle of tupees, or curls, seven inches high above the forehead.

Nov. 11. It is said that a bill will be brought into Parliament to prohibit the exportation of oak and fir timber, excepting for the use of his Majesty's ships of war on foreign stations.

Nov. 15. A certain noble Lord last week, eat five pounds of beef stakes, at a Supper for a wager of fifty guineas, and afterwards retired quite sober, with four bottles of burgundy.

The general meeting of the East-India Company held last Friday, to consider on a motion for applying to Parliament to take the management of their affairs under certain conditions, was, after long debates, adjourned sine die, without coming to any conclusion.

According to private letters from Brest, the French African Company had entered into contract for supplying the Spanish American settlements with 7000 slaves annually for five years.

It is reported, that the Rt. Hon. Mr. Secretary Conway, will shortly be created an English Peer.

Nov. 12. The Defeat of the East-India Company's Troops on the Malabar Coast (notwithstanding it has been contradicted by the Papers, of their own Conjectures only) is strongly vouched by several Gentlemen of Credit lately arrived in England.

'Tis confidently said, that the Right Hon. the Earl of Chatham, as a Reward for the faithful and unparalleled Services done by him to his Country beyond any former Minister, will be advanced to the Dukedom of Kent, or Greenwich.

Nov. 21. It is said that Mr. Wilkes is not returned to Paris, but is gone to reside some time in Holland.

It was yesterday reported, that several changes in the inferior offices of administration, would be soon made; that Lord Gower is to be first Lord of the Admiralty; Lord Barrington to be a Peer of England; Col. Barre to be Secretary at War; Richard Rigby to be one of the Joint Treasurers of Ireland; and John Shelly, Esq; to be Treasurer of the Household, in the room of Lord Edgecumbe, who has resigned.

It is assured a celebrated exile, during his late visit in England, made application to a noble Duke to intercede for his pardon, who advised him to apply to a certain Nobleman, as the only person who could procure it; upon hearing which, the former shook his head, and replied, if that was the case, he had no hopes at all of obtaining it from his Lordship's new connections.

It is said that the North Americans will grant and raise a sum equal to what the stamp-act would have produced, but that they will do it in their own way, by making an act among themselves, for that purpose.

They write from Peterburgh, that her Imperial Majesty had given Orders, that none of the Prussian Agents should be permitted to buy up Saltpetre in the Dominions of Russia.

'Tis said that Lord Chatham, intends to retire from public business, and that the privy Seal will be given to a great personage in the law, who tho' no way eminent on account of his popularity, is nevertheless universally admired on account of his abilities.

It is said the Marquis of Rockingham will soon be created a Duke.

There are now several servants of a great Company, under actual protection, for breach of orders, in a distant quarter of the world.

It is said that a popular Nobleman has refused the perquisite of 5000 ounces of plate, which was always tacked to the promotion to his office.

Extract of a Letter from Berlin, Oct. 20.

"The Advices from Pittsburgh alarm us. The French Partisans boldly assert, that they have got the Monopoly of all the Saltpetre of the Russian Empire that is permitted to be exported. We can hardly believe this to be true, and rather take it for a Brag of a lively French Undertaking, it would be too strong a Measure for a Minister, even in Russia, to hinder the People from selling their Produce to those who give most. And our Monarch who feels the Necessity of having more than this Country can produce, would give more than a market Price for that Material, upon which not only our Independence but that of all Europe depends."

Plymouth-Dock, Nov. 11. As it was doubted whether an English Officer has any Power over the Officers of the Ships of foreign Powers (Men of War) I send you what I remember Sir John Balchin did when he commanded here.—A Dutch Man of War being in Hamoaze, the Admiral observed the Dutchman was fixing some uncommon Rigging at his Yard-Arms, upon which he said, "What's the Dutchman about?" Somebody made Answer, "That he was to Keel haul a Man to-day;" "Ha!" said the Admiral, "I'll prevent that then," and ordered the Signal to be made for the Dutch Captain; and upon his coming on board, the Admiral acquainted him, "That if he inflicted any of his brutal Punishment in this Harbour, he should answer the Consequence to the British Laws."—The Man was forgiven.

The same Night, one Mr. Bird, of Dorchester, in going home from Town, was also froze to Death. We hear that several People belonging to the Country, had some of them their Hands, and Feet, and others their Noses, Ears, &c., froze in coming to, or returning home from Market, in the extreme cold Weather we had last Week.

'Tis said a Man belonging to Medford, returning from Cambridge, had both his Eyes froze.

PHILADELPHIA, January 15.

The Ship Royal Hunter, Captain Brown, from Barbados is ashore in our Bay, and we hear she is full of Water.

Capt. Potts, from Barbados, on the 2d Instant, in Lat. 66° 33', Long. 70°, spoke the Sloop Dolphin, Capt. Nigh, five Days out from Rhode-Island on a Whaling Voyage to the West-Indies, who, on the 31st of December, had been overset in a Gale of Wind, when he lost one of his Hands, his Boats, and Fore-sail, and purposed to return back again to Rhode-Island, if the Wind permitted, otherwise to any Port on the Continent that he could make.

Mr. Holt,

If you will give the following Lines a Place in your Paper, for the Amusement of your Customers, you'll oblige a Friend and Customer, &c.

To one third of a mountain, in Greece, held divine,
(For the seat of Apollo, and sacred nine;) Add one fifth of a village, the rural retreat
Of the Kings, when the town is all pregnant with heat.
Then lastly one third of what represents King,
Which united with care, to your mind will straight bring
The name of a lady, I greatly revere,
For beauty, good nature, and friendship sincere:
To recount all her charms the hard task I decline,
For without hyperbole she's an angel divine!

NEW-YORK, January 22.

By Captain Dobson, from New-Orleans, we have Advice, that tho' a Spanish Governor, with about one hundred Men, had arrived there some Time ago, yet the Garrison and Island were still in the Possession of the French; who were in general dissatisfied with the Cession of that Place to the Spaniards, and would much rather they had been put under the English Government; but that the Spanish Governor had sent an Express to the Havanna, for three hundred Men more, and when arrived the Fort and Place were to be peaceably put into his Possession; and Capt. Dobson says, as he came by the Havanna, he saw several Vessels getting under Sail there, which he apprehends were those Forces. It was asserted, that the Spaniards had actually ceded all the Island of Hispaniola to the French, in Lieu of the Island of Orleans; and that most of the Spanish Settlers of Hispaniola, had left that Island and gone to Porto Rico. Capt. Dobson touched at Penfaca in his Way home, and says that Governor Johnston was preparing to return to Europe in 8 or 10 Days.

We have Advice from Barbados, via Antigua, that Admiral Pye, was at that Island, and had continual Cruisers out from thence to Dominica, being determined to protect the Trade to those Islands, from any Interruption of the French or Spaniards.

The Schooner Deborah, Donald M'Auley, Master, of New-Haven, arrived here from Lisbon the 10th Inst. after a very tedious Passage of 15 Weeks; the 24th of December, Nantucket Shoals bearing about N. N. W. 60 Miles Distance, he fell in with the Schooner Royal American, William Brown, Master, 29 Days from St. Eustatia, bound for Boston, who had sprung a Leak 9 Days after he got to Sea, and almost despair'd of being able to make his Port, unless the Weather moderated.

Philip M'Carroll, Isaac Crawford, and John Williams, who were confined together in one cell, in our gaol, for some small robberies, on Wednesday night, last Week picked a hole in the wall, and let themselves down with their blankets; but not content with obtaining their liberty, they immediately set to work at their old trade, and began with the brewery of Leonard Lipsenard, Esq; where it seems Crawford and M'Carroll had been servants, and robbed the same of about 40/- in coppers, from thence they proceeded to one William's a beer-house, where they were well acquainted, which they robbed of every thing they laid their hands on, cash, clothes, guns, &c, and abused the poor old people very much; but to crown the whole, they broke open a stable at the North-River, and stole from thence a pair of grey horses belonging to captain Sowers, and a chesnut one the property of Mr. Foreman, with which they rode off; but being missed in the morning they were followed on Thursday by a number of men, who took them in a barn near the White-Plains, and brought the gentlemen back to their old quarters, where they are now very secure.

Whitehall, Nov. 18. The King has been pleased to grant unto Thomas Cumming, Esq; the Office of Vendue Master, in the Province of New-York, in North-America.

The King has been pleased to grant unto Maurice Morgan, Esq; the Office of Secretary of the Colony of Nova Cæsarea, or N. Jersey, in America.

On Monday last arrived the Snow Elton, Capt. Crown, in 8 Weeks from Liverpool,—brings no News.

The Hartford post came in last night, but brings no Boston papers later than by last post, which were dated the 11th Inst. The air in the late severe weather, in New-Haven, Boston and Salem, was several degrees colder than it has been for 20 or 30 years past—in New-York and Newport, not so cold as it was last year.—The destruction of mills and bridges by the late floods, appears to have been general, all over Connecticut, and other places.

[The Piece on the Laws for new Regulation of Buildings in the City of New-York, will be inserted in our next.]

The Piece in our last, sign'd Tyro Senectutis, no doubt had a Meaning which the Author intended to discover to those it might concern, without being intelligible to other Readers,—or the Printer, who tho' he did not understand it, yet (as it appeared to contain nothing of an offensive Nature) had no Objection to giving it a Place in his Paper on the Footing of an Advertisement. But Empericus's Dialogue of Remarks upon it, besides being sent without Money to pay the Expence of Publication, might possibly give Offence, as containing some National Reflections.—The Epigram, on Medicus Chymicus Americanus, is too coarse for a public Paper.]

The following Character of this Book, is given by the Monthly Reviewers, in June 1766.

A Publication of this Kind in a free State, is never unseasonable; and this Compendium has the Merit of being more full and methodical, than any Thing of the Kind now extant. Every Statute, and indeed every Mode of legal Proceeding, whereby the Liberty of the Subject is either directly or remotely affected, is here set forth and illustrated by judicious Comments. We must not omit to observe, that the Introduction contains some excellent Reflections, collected from the best Writers, on political Liberty in general, and on the Nature of the British Constitution in particular: The Subjects of this Treatise are too various and diffusive to admit of Abridgement, and indeed the Attempt would be unnecessary; for as every Man is interested in the Contents of this Collection, no one who can read should be without it.

N. B. The Rev. Mr. Pullin's Essay on the Culture of Silk, is sold by GARRAT NOEL, as likewise; a great Variety of Books, by the best Authors on Husbandry, and Gardening.

ARTICLES omitted in former PAPERS for want of Room.

LONDON, November 23.

N Tuesday last, Notice was sent to the Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen, that a Gentleman, lately deceased, had left the Sum of 6000l. to be deposited in their Hands for the Benefit of Soldiers and Sailors who served his Majesty in the late War, and were free of the City before such Servitude, and that the above Sum was ready to be paid the Executors of the Deceased, whenever applied for.

Sir Lawrence Dundas, Bart. has purchased of the Earl of Morton his Right and Property in the Isles of Orkney and Shetland, at the Value of 60,000 Guineas.

Letters from Naples mention, Accounts have been received there from Constantinople, that a late Shock of an Earthquake had done considerable Damage in the Island of Lemnos.

His Danish Majesty has issued an edict, dated the 11th last, by which all his subjects are strictly forbid to embrace the Roman Catholick Religion, and the Jesuits to remain in his Majesty's territories.

Yesterday came on at Hicks's-hall, a most remarkable trial, wherein the Mistress of the White Horse at Poplar (who for many years kept the said house dressed in man's cloths, and served parish-offices with reputation) was plaintiff, and William Barwick defendant. During the course of the trial it appeared that the defendant had extorted divers considerable sums of money from the plaintiff, for concealing her sex, which he was acquainted with; when he was convicted of the said crime on the fullest evidence, to the satisfaction of the whole court.

It is reported that the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Hertford, master of the horse to his Majesty, will, in a few days, be created a Duke.

The wild boar, which lately attacked the French King as he was hunting near Campagne, tore out the bowels of his horse with his tusks: but his Majesty having luckily a spare horse near him, he got upon it with great agility, and putting the beast immediately to full speed, thus escaped the fury of the enraged animal.

This day the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Rochefort, set out on his embassy to the court of France.

Oxford, Oct. 14. In consequence of the wholesome and seasonable resolution taken by the justices to suppress all tumultuous proceedings, we had on Saturday last a fuller and more regular market than before. Sad experience teaches, what incompetent lawgivers are a rude mob, led on by ignorance and madness, obstructing the common channels of justice, and introducing that very scarcity they pretend to remedy.

A Letter from a Gentleman at B—n to his Friend in London, dated October 7.

SIR,

I do not remember to have seen mentioned in any of the public prints, the true cause of a great General's having quitted a certain Potentate's service, which was briefly this: His M—y had issued an order of leave for a certain number of his soldiers to assist the Farmers, &c. in getting in the harvest; for which, as they were to be satisfied by their employers, their military pay was ordered to go into the public treasury, and not into the pockets of the officers, as had been usual heretofore in such cases. The officers thinking this a hardship, particularly so soon after their having been at some extraordinary fatigues during the late war, applied to the great General to represent their case to his M—y, and to intercede in their behalf, which he kindly undertook; but his application was treated in such a manner as greatly disgusted him and occasioned his resigning all his military employments. His M—y, it seems, thought it an improper request to him, to revoke or alter an ordinance which he had issued, tho' solicited in the most cautious, and respectful manner.

CORK, Oct. 27. We have the Pleasure to acquaint the Publick, that in Pursuance to an Application of our worthy Chief Magistrate; immediately upon his coming into Office, their Excellencies the Lords Justices had been pleased to issue a Proclamation, to prevent the Exportation of Potatoes, until further Orders, which will be of infinite Service to the Poor of this City, as well as to the Kingdom in general.

Dublin, Nov. 1. Yesterday their Excellencies the Lords Justices, attended by a Party of Gen. Honeywood's Horse, went to his Majesty's Park the Phoenix, where the Regiment on Dublin Duty were assembled, and likewise 70 Boys and 30 Girls, the Children and Orphans of Soldiers, and laid the Foundation Stone of an Hospital for their Reception, which will contain about 430 Children. Most of the Governors in Town were present, and a great Number of Spectators, who expressed the highest Pleasure and approbation at so noble and useful a Charity. As all his Majesty's faithful Subjects are so deeply interested in this excellent institution, it cannot be doubted but All will generously concur in the Support of it. The Cannon were fired by the Regiment of Artillery, and answered by the Small Arms of the different Regiments, on their Excellencies laying the Copper-plate inscription.

B O S T O N, December 29.

Last Tuesday Night a Snow Storm began here, which continued all the next Day and Night, during which Time as great a Quantity of Snow fell as has been known at one Time for several Years past, which has rendered the Roads extremely bad for Travelling; in many Places it has drifted to a great height.
